

Adam George Professional Close-Up Magician

"Magic is the art of entertaining by the performance of feats which appear to be contrary to natural law."

Jean Hugard

Adam uses magic to entertain, inspire and enthral audiences across the country; producing unforgettable performances for a whole spectrum of events and leaving a trail of incredulity and enjoyment in his wake.

Adam's interest in magic has been a driving factor throughout his life, shaping his career from an early age. Magic is distinctive as a form of entertainment in that it leaves a lasting impression on its audience, and it is this impression that Adam strives to create and be remembered for in all his performances.

Attention to detail is Adam's speciality; he takes pride in providing the very best in entertainment for your event. The magic he performs is especially adapted to suit the event, from larger shows to close-up performances suitable for table-side entertainment & cocktail receptions. Being the number one choice for many leading companies in the UK, you can be sure you are booking one of the best.
